Pre-Summit International Conference on Qalb-Guided Leadership in Higher Education Institutions

The Pre-Summit International Conference acts as a platform to discuss relevant issues to align the role of universities to educate the heart, soul and purification of the soul. It covers the aspects of developing a community of academics and graduates who understand the meaning of life from an intellectual perspective and possess noble characteristics. This is done through carefully addressing the educational model based on Qalb among universities in Malaysia. Leadership is defined based on the Qalb which also forms the basis of the framework of capacity building. Things that can be discussed more are on the challenges of creating the Qalb-Guided Leadership in Higher Education Institutions. What are the restrictions on forming a full capacity and package of Muslim Generation and academic leaders who can integrate the Qalb-Guided, balanced (Mizan) and soul-driven leadership in multi-disciplinary fields in higher education?

Universiti Sains Islam Malaysia and AKEPT are proud to host the 2nd World Islamic University Leaders Summit 2016 (WICULS 2016) from 14th to 20th November 2016. This second series of WICULS will begin with a Pre-Summit International Conference on Qalb-Guided Leadership in Higher Education Institutions on the 14th & 15th November 2016, followed by the Main Summit, WICULS 2016 on the 16th & 17th November 2016 and end with a Post-Summit Workshop for Young Muslim Student Leaders. The Summit and its ancillary events play an important part to connect and provide a platform to discuss the roles and responsibilities of Muslim leaders in Higher Institutions to bring about sustainable change in Higher Education.

The 2nd World Islamic Countries University Leaders Summit 2016

The 2nd Summit, WICULS 2016, will build on the concept of the "House of Wisdom" or Baytul Hikmah as the model of the University of the Future. In order to ensure continuity, the themes of the 1st Summit, equity, wisdom and ethics, will remain the same although the approach will revolve around the Baytul Hikmah model. Among the areas that can be highlighted are familiarisation on the approach and challenges in implementing education for sustainable development and also addressing real issues pertaining to access and equity in education. The needs of the individual, community, nation and Ummah need to be addressed accordingly in order to initiate a good Model of balanced and sustainable higher education for Muslim countries.

Post-Summit Workshop for Young Muslim Student Leaders

This workshop is a 3-day workshop designed especially for university student leaders who have maintained full attendance at the WICULS 2016 Summit. In addition, this workshop is also organized to gather youth community leaders around ASEAN to discuss current scenarios of community education and higher education in their respective nations. It is expected that the youth leaders will share relevant inputs on their active contributions toward the development of the communities through the initiation of various programs and projects at various community levels. The workshop will draw on the experience and perspectives of the young leaders in articulating a future for higher education underpinned by the scenarios in their respective localities.
